I have told Alison no to this meeting, and that we need to stop wasting our limited hours and any confab like this needs to wait til we have a plan. So all of you also please hold off. I will attend with the homelessness advocates who want to meet and wrangle them.

Subject: EHT Campaign: Invitation to debrief and learn

Dear colleagues:

Following up on conversation with several people on this list, I'm writing to invite you to debrief, knowing that this is a hectic time with a lot still in motion. One of my core organizing principles is ALWAYS to learn from successes and failures. While more time to reflect and process is useful, capturing fresh assessments can be as well. If you're interested in participating, please reply and I will add you to a group to schedule. Please note your availability within this initial proposed meeting window: Friday, June 15 between 11 a.m. and 4. p.m.

Thanks,
Alison

However, I do think the sooner the better is needed. There are many missteps and we don't want to get behind the ball again.

What is your timeline for meeting with the advocates again?

We are already working on ideas on the floor, but I have lost a lot of faith in a big table approach and think we will need numerous approaches to make up time and money.

"already working on ideas"—is that off the list I sent sejal and cody, or other ideas? We should talk about that, I am just trying to separate these two groups, the political group and the policy group can't effectively coexist at this stage. I will meet with the advocates as soon as able, but lisa d is out of town, it is useless to just meet with Alison and Katie.
